

UNIVERSITY of BRADFORD

Your Bradford Legacy

“For many of us leaving a gift in our will is the most significant gift we could ever make, and the one that requires the most thought.”

“In this leaflet, you can read about the work your legacy could support, hear from those supported by gifts in wills, and from individuals who have made them.”

My decision to give

“My experience at Bradford was remarkable – it truly was the start of the rest of my life. When I studied at university it was free, but it is much harder for today’s students. They will leave with debts which can deter many from attending, and many who would really benefit from an education at Bradford simply can’t afford it. I want to make sure that my legacy helps them to be able to achieve something that they would otherwise have been unable to.”

“I want to say to my generation of Bradford graduates – you were given the opportunity to succeed because of Bradford. If you want to do something for somebody, give to Bradford and help create the opportunities for others to succeed.”

PROFESSOR SHERIF EL-KHAMISY

Director of the Institute of Cancer Therapeutics

Leading in the fight against cancer

“We have always been privileged here at the Institute of Cancer Therapeutics to be able to count on the generosity and thoughtfulness of our supporters. This longstanding support has powered the research breakthroughs made by my team and helped us educate the next generation of cancer researchers.

“In 2022 we have been proud to announce that we have been able to create four brand-new donor-funded PhD studentships in anti-cancer therapeutics and are thrilled to have received donations to purchase vital pieces of research equipment. With our unique focus on the delivery of therapeutics through prodrugs, we are confident that we are ideally placed to deliver even more significant advances against cancer in the near future.”

We hope you will consider leaving a gift in your will to the University - even a gift of 1% will transform lives and shape Bradford's future. You can choose to direct your legacy towards student scholarships to help people like Aysha, towards our cancer research work led by Professor El-Khamisy, another area of our work that is meaningful to you - or even leave your gift unrestricted, for the University to allocate to the area of greatest need.

Scholarship recipient

Supporting student scholarships

“I would like to extend a massive thank you to Baroness Lockwood. I am incredibly grateful for her decision to give in her will, to make the scholarship I have received possible, through her generosity in funding the Baroness Lockwood Memorial Scholarship.

“I am truly honoured and deeply appreciative to be a recipient of this award. I want to thank Betty Lockwood for her foresight and the confidence placed in future generations of students by her, and her willingness to help students like me achieve my goals. This gift will make my education and career goals easier to achieve and has made a meaningful contribution to my professional development.”

To ensure that the University will be able to carry out your wishes and ensure your gift is bespoke and personal to yourself, please feel free to contact us directly to discuss your intentions. We would be honoured to count you among our supporters who have chosen to give in this way - to put your Bradford legacy in place, simply contact your solicitor to discuss including Bradford in your will. We would recommend that you seek legal advice to draw up a new will, or make changes to your existing will.
